The School Of Hardknocks (SOHK) Nigeria has recently attained a very significant recognition in accord with its passionate objectives to stimulate productivity and technology incubation through its Project Digital Specialized Skills and Sports Initiative.

The Secondary Education Board (SEB) on 15th February, 2023, through the Director General has approved TAC Africa in accord with its SOHK initiative to embark on free training on some selected FCT secondary schools to further improve Students academic performance through its project.

While addressing the press, Dr. Jerry Akubo, CEO, SOHK Nigeria, expressed his commitment to the development of education in Nigeria and delight for the recent SEB endorsement.

He stated thus: "I strongly believe in education as the cornerstone of national economic growth and development.

The African child has a unique potential that the continent will leverage upon for sustainable development. I'm confident of my heartfelt impact through sports curriculum objectives and digital specialized skills, and it will undoubtedly promote sustainable development and curb crime In Nigeria."

Stressing the importance of the SEB endorsement to TAC Africa, Dr Akubo stated that it is a clear indication of the relevance and statutory responsibility to imbibe the United Nations mission to impact and adherence to actualizing the Sustainable Development Goals among which includes: gender quality education, women and girls empowerment, ensure healthy lives and promote well-being and ensure inclusive, equitable quality education.

Hence, with the SEB endorsement of TAC Africa to carry out its activities in 5 pilot FCT schools, the SOHK impact activities will immediately and undoubtedly prove that School Of Hardknocks, (SOHK) Nigeria is currently taking a significant position in the frontline corridor of an easy knowledge assimilation process through impacting secondary school education with sports programmes and digital skills as its core objectives to eradicate drug abuse, cultism, prostitution and other social vices.

This indeed is a remarkable and reputable hallmark of honour and excellence to immortalize the SOHK legacy and impact objectives in lives of secondary school students across Nigeria through its ongoing Project 774 Initiative.

Expected relevant stakeholders in anticipation of the Forthcoming Inauguration of the SEB Partnership with TAC Africa will include the leading corporate institutions in education sponsorship programs like; MTN, Milo, Danogote Foundation, Child Trust Fund, Cononley Nig Ltd, NNPC, Max Air, etc. Also Expected for the inauguration will include scholarship awarding institutions, media institutions, diplomats, and heads of academic establishments.
